

Welcome to 'Alcohol Alley': The road to ruin which has 22 licensed premises in ONE mile

By DAILY MAIL REPORTER
CREATED: 12:18, 23 October 2020

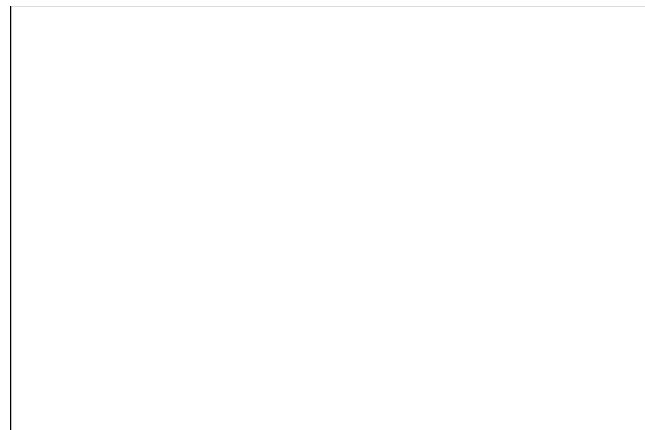

13

View comments

A busy road on the outskirts of Manchester city centre has been dubbed 'Alcohol Alley' - because it has a staggering 22 licensed premises which sell alcohol.

Among the many places to buy drink, Moston Lane in Moston, north Manchester has six off-licences - five of which are within 400 yards of each other.

Because of the close proximity to each other, stores are embroiled in a bitter price war trying to win custom by selling alcohol at rock-bottom prices.

Moston Lane in north Manchester has been dubbed 'Alcohol Alley' because the street has 22 licensed premises

Site Web

ADVERTISEMENT

Like
Daily Mail

Follow
Daily Mail

Follow
@DailyMail

Follow
Daily Mail

Follow
@dailymailuk

Follow
Daily Mail

DON'T MISS

▶ Comedian Lee Evans, 56, makes rare appearance since quitting showbiz for his wife... as he goes without his wedding ring

EXCLUSIVE In the week Boris told Britain it was in for another six months of Covid misery, his partner Carrie Symonds enjoys Italian holiday

▶ 'I needed a lot of help': Phillip Schofield gets emotional as he discusses mental health battle and thanks wife Steph for supporting him

▶ 'The love I feel for this tiny human is beyond my understanding.' Gigi Hadid and Zayn Malik welcome a 'healthy and beautiful' baby girl

▶ Chris Robshaw and his wife Camilla Kerslake join OnlyFans - a subscription service used by celebrities and porn stars to sell X-rated content

▶ Recession? WHAT recession? Meet the brilliant British businesses bucking the trend and making money thanks to one website

AD FEATURE

▶ Meghan Markle stuns