Hi Alan,

In regards to all the information that has been addressed for concern, please allow me to explain which precaution measures we are taking to prevent these issues,

The event is a live podcast event in which people come down and watch live podcasts from all around. The podcast show has got a great following, the main source of the entertainment is to view the live performances.

The event is up to 499 guests but not for the total 15 hour event there is set acts on a different times people would be coming to see. There would not be this total numbers of guests for the entirety of the day. Just at various points.

The company hiring the premises will also have steward's as well as security to prevent any unwanted behaviour as well as controlling people entering and leaving the event.

We have also address the car situation, telling people there is no parking on site and mentioning they would need to travel via public transport.

The premises of the grounds have 5 toilet in the main building as well as 20 more in the changing room blocks.

The outside noise will end at 22:00 we have address this by having the stages outside moving to a silent disco style performance from the acts in which all the guests will receive head sets to listen to the acts. Also to mention this not a loud event with music it's people listening to live podcasts of comedy.

I would also like to mention I would have explained all of this in the application but I did not see anywhere in which too. I hope you can forward this counter argument to the appropriate sector to make sure they are fully aware of the event and the proceedings we have in place.

Kind regards

Lee
